Serving great meals
is only half the story.

Effectively managing the waste is the other half.

Every day responsible food service operators are taking steps to lighten their footprint, to save the environment and to save money. Your challenge, of course, is eliminating as much waste as possible during food prep and service. Beyond initiating in-house conservation and waste management practices many owners, CEO's and senior managers rely on Cayuga Compost food waste collection service.

Cayuga Compost collects food scraps, waste oil, food-soiled paper and waxed cardboard from central New York waste generators including: restaurants, caterers, school districts, municipalities, institutional food services, wineries and grocery stores.

Providing a safe, green alternative to landfill dumping, Cayuga Compost recycles organic waste into nutrient rich soil amendments, while conserving fuel resources by recovering waste locally.

Everyone loves the way Cayuga Compost handles food waste, Mother Nature included.

 Cayuga Compost food waste recycling fees, on a per ton basis, are typically one-half those of garbage disposal service fees. Cayuga Compost will help you evaluate your costs.

 Cayuga Compost waste collection service eliminates the challenges associated with on-site composting.

 Cayuga Compost collects and composts meat scraps, shellfish, soiled paper, fruit, vegetables, pizza boxes, waxed cardboard, packaging and dairy products.

 64 gallon containers are collected weekly and replaced with clean containers. No fuss, no muss.

 As a Cayuga Compost customer you receive a MEMBER of the GREEN PLATE CLUB plaque. It's important to raise awareness and communicate to your customers and guest that you recycle and compost.
